The GEMS camp (Girls Interested in Engineering, Mathematics and Science): $32.7K

This is a student-focused program that emphasizes broadening the participation of underrepresented and underserved racially and ethnically minoritized girls (UUREM) in Fair Park. The mission is to change the face of those who can access and excel in STEM studies and careers.

The purpose of this program is to increase the percentage of minority young women earning bachelor's degrees in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) to improve gender, racial and socioeconomic diversity, equity and inclusion in the US STEM workforce. This is done through mentoring, delivering experiences with those in the field who look like them and building their skill set through tutoring.

This $32.7K investment is mainly a percentage to hire part time staff for this particular program and curriculum for the program.

I look Like Love: $25K

While they have 3 very important programs for young mothers which directly affect the SDFP community, the ask for this grant is for the Mobile Diaper Pantry only. The need for young, single moms to have access to clean diapers and wipes in this underserved community is dire and getting worse due to the economy. The average annual household income for families served is $16,043 which is below the federal poverty line. 70% of participants are young, single mothers.

This $25K investment will serve thousands of families from the community for babies and toddlers up to 3 years of age.
