BACKGROUND

The City of Dallas is one of eight cities to be selected to receive an Advancing Economic Mobility Rapid grant through the National League of Cities and receive technical assistance to help increase the City's efforts in promoting economic mobility for residents through financial empowerment and benefits enrollment/outreach in order to increase participation and overall benefit access in communities the City has identified as equity priority areas through the Racial Equity Plan.

The Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) provides nutrition education, breastfeeding support and food benefits to pregnant and breastfeeding women, infants and children. The City of Dallas Office of Community Care has been awarded funds through the WIC Community Innovation and Outreach Project (WIC CIAO) to develop, implement, and evaluate innovative outreach strategies to increase WIC awareness, participation, and redemption of benefits, and reduce disparities in program delivery. Leveraging this opportunity, the OCC will implement co-outreach strategies and apply them in coordination with Dallas Financial Empowerment Center and Period Access Dallas programs.

By linking benefit access and financial empowerment services through shared outreach campaigns, the City will activate a tiered community support approach in which residents that might not have otherwise known of these benefits now have the opportunity to address their needs through the redemption of benefits and address any financial hardships through financial counseling.

Funds will enable the OCC to strengthen its presence in northwestern and southern Dallas by focusing on increased awareness of, participation, satisfaction with, and retention within several programs designed to promote health and economic mobility.
