BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Planned Development District No. 595 – South Dallas/Fair Park Special Purpose District (PD 595):

In June 2001, the City of Dallas adopted the South Dallas/Fair Park Economic Development Corridor Plan, which established the policy foundation for Planned Development District No. 595, commonly referred to as the South Dallas/Fair Park Special Purpose District. The district was subsequently approved by the Dallas City Council on September 26, 2001, to guide redevelopment, economic investment, and land use regulation within the South Dallas/Fair Park area.

Since its adoption, PD 595 has been amended thirty times in response to changing development patterns, evolving community priorities, and ongoing implementation efforts. (Ord. Nos. 24726; 25351; 26034; 26037; 26351; 26365; 26875; 27252; 27518; 27580; 27612; 27635; 27679; 28208; 28223; 28269; 28288; 28328; 28697; 29052; 29316; 29319; 29335; 29664; 29677; 31101; 31386; 31664; 32256; 32272; 32458.) These amendments have incrementally modified development standards, permitted uses, and subdistrict regulations throughout the district over more than two decades.

Additional planning initiatives have also informed land use and development policy within the area, including the Martin Luther King, Jr. Station Area Plan and the Hatcher Station Area Plan, both adopted in February 2013, as well as the Fair Park Master Plan, adopted in December 2020. Together, these planning efforts have continued to shape the City's long-term vision for growth, mobility, economic development, neighborhood preservation, and urban design within the South Dallas/Fair Park area.

South Dallas Fair Park (SDFP) Area Plan Timeline and Background:

The South Dallas Fair Park planning effort began in January 2020, when a request for consideration of authorizing a public hearing to determine proper zoning for property within PD 595—was introduced through a five-signature memo submitted by Councilmember Adam Bazaldua (District 7) and co-signed by Councilmembers Jaime Resendez (District 5), Paula Blackmon (District 9), Omar Narvaez (District 6), and Adam Medrano (District 2). However, the request was halted due to the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Following the limitations on engagement caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, full planning efforts resumed in summer 2022, when staff began reengaging with the broader South Dallas community. This included outreach to faith-based organizations, businesses, nonprofits, neighborhood associations, property owners, and other stakeholders to restart and expand meaningful participation. This renewed, in-person engagement led to formal action on October 12, 2022, when City Council requested that the Planning and Development Department initiate an area planning process and authorized hearing for the area generally located south and east of Fair Park. The resulting initiative became the SDFP Area Plan. In December 2022, the first public meeting was held at the South Dallas Cultural Center, where residents provided feedback on guiding principles, focus areas, and broader community development concerns related to land use, helping shape a timely implementation-focused plan intended to be achievable within five years.

Over the subsequent two-plus years, staff participated in over 100 meetings, ranging from large community-wide events with over 100 attendees to smaller neighborhood gatherings and individual meetings with property owners, homeowners, and business owners. Engagement activities included open houses, community meetings, presentations, pop-up events, and area tours. Much of this work occurred concurrently with the ForwardDallas 2.0 update, with certain workshops and meetings designed to inform both planning efforts. Key milestones in 2025 included a January 23 overview and briefing to the Dallas City Plan Commission, followed by an April 24 presentation of the draft SDFP Area Plan, during which staff invited both commissioners and the public to review the document and provide substantive comments by May 2. On May 8, 2025, the City Plan Commission held a public hearing to gather additional public comments and ultimately recommended advancing the SDFP Area Plan to the Dallas City Council for consideration.

On June 25, 2025, Dallas City Council adopted the SDFP Area Plan, culminating four years of work by community members, stakeholders, SDFP Area Plan Taskforce and the Planning & Development Department (PDD). The plan not only sets the future land use and urban design vision, but also serves as an implementation plan, providing recommendations for how zoning can create a unified vision for the future of South Dallas that addresses both economic development hurdles in the community as well as development pressure and the preservation of existing neighborhoods.

South Dallas Fair Park Authorized Hearing Process:

On October 14, 2025, PDD hosted a kickoff community meeting to present a recap of the SDFP Area Plan, provide an overview of the Authorized Hearing process, and emphasize the importance of community engagement in achieving zoning objectives. This initial meeting also served as a foundation for gathering early input, which helped guide staff in refining subsequent zoning proposals.

On November 13, 2025, PDD conducted a second community meeting focused on educating stakeholders about key zoning concepts, including the history and function of PD 595. Topics covered included existing land use, regulatory frameworks, and subdistrict locations. The meeting also introduced potential options for amending PD 595 and allowed staff to collect additional community feedback, which contributed to the continued improvement of draft staff recommendations.

On December 9, 2025, PDD hosted a third community meeting to present specific zoning recommendations and gather further stakeholder input. The meeting included breakout sessions addressing topics such as single-family and duplex design standards, mixed-use zoning regulations, as well as proposed changes to community focus areas. Feedback collected during these discussions provided valuable insights that enabled staff to further refine and strengthen future zoning proposals that would be presented after additional smaller one-on-one meetings with various stakeholders requesting additional information. In addition, this step provided staff with the guidance necessary to circulate internal drafts for review from various departments.

On March 28, 2026, City Council approved amendments to the SDFP Area Plan following Council Resolution No. 25-1081, which directed the City Manager to evaluate existing programs and policies for compliance with federal directives. The review identified several adopted plans requiring updates, and the proposed amendments reflected necessary changes to ensure alignment.

On March 30, 2026, PDD staff met with the Pointe South Business Group to present the proposed zoning and gather additional feedback. During this meeting, there were questions from the business owners regarding the impacts of rezoning and potential areas of opportunity for economic development.

On April 28, 2026, PDD staff hosted a fourth community meeting to recap prior engagement efforts, reintroduce the SDFP Area Plan framework, and present the zoning proposal to the broader community. Since the previous community meeting, staff had spent several months focused on drafting, evaluating, and refining the proposal through internal review and coordination efforts before bringing it forward for broader public discussion. The meeting also outlined next steps in the adoption process and provided an additional opportunity for stakeholder feedback, helping staff further refine and advance the proposal.

On May 7, 2026, Planning and Development staff presented a briefing on the authorized hearing for PD 595, to the City Plan Commission and responded to commission questions regarding the proposed zoning amendments and implementation framework.

On May 21, 2026, staff presented the zoning recommendations to the CPC, and the CPC then moved to approve staff's recommendation, with several changes affecting development standards, allowable uses, height limits, and subdistrict boundaries in the affected districts. The most significant changes fell in Sections 106, 107, and 108. There, the maximum impervious surface was increased from 25 percent to 30 percent, giving property owners a little more room to develop their sites without abandoning sensible limits on lot coverage. Garage widths were limited to half of any street-facing façade, a step meant to keep streets walkable and prevent frontages from being swallowed by garage doors. Transparency standards were set to vary by situation: façades that include a garage require at least 10 percent transparency, while everything else requires 20 percent. The goal was to keep ground-floor frontages active and interesting at eye level.

Several use changes accompanied these standards. Retirement housing was made a by-right use in every mixed-use district, which spares an aging population the delay of a separate approval process. Other uses raised more concern about their effect on neighboring properties, so Section 116 was amended to require a Specific Use Permit for auto auctions, manufactured building sales lots, mini-warehouses, and outside storage, the last of these only with visual screening in place. Each one would then get an individual look for how well it fits its surroundings.

Height was addressed in Section 114, which was aligned with the existing rules in Section 113. The exception was height itself: structures meeting the CMU design standards could reach 200 feet, while everything else stayed capped at 45. Sections 112 through 116 also picked up the primary customer entrance requirements for retail and personal service uses that already appear in Planned Development District No. 714, at Section 51P-714-118(e)(2).

The remaining changes redrew a few subdistrict lines to fit the character these properties are meant to have. Lots 1 through 9 in City Block G/2425, plus Lot 13 in City Block 2420, were moved to the CH Clustered Housing subdistrict. Lot 79A and Lot 82 in City Block 2251, along with Lots 3, 4, and 5 in City Block 2/2117, were shifted to the Neighborhood Mixed Use subdistrict.

Traffic

Since this is a city-initiated rezoning affecting a broad area of more than 3,000 acres and does not propose a specific development project, the analysis is programmatic in nature rather than site-specific. While future development facilitated by the updated zoning may incrementally influence traffic patterns over time, no immediate or direct traffic impacts can be attributed to this request. Any future development within the area will be subject to additional traffic review at the time of permitting, as applicable, to assess site-specific impacts on the surrounding roadway network.

ForwardDallas 2.0 establishes Placetypes to articulate the long-term vision and desired building and preservation characteristics for different areas within the city, including neighborhoods, mixed-use districts, employment centers, and open spaces. These placetypes serve as a high-level framework guiding land use, urban design, and the appropriate intensity and scale of development.

The South Dallas Fair Park Authorized Hearing area encompasses several Placetypes, including Regional Open Space, Community Residential, City Residential, Regional Mixed Use, Neighborhood Mixed-Use, Community Mixed Use, and Flex Commercial.

Collectively, these designations establish a framework for a balanced and integrated development pattern that supports a range of community needs. The residential Placetypes advance the Housing Choice and Access theme by accommodating a variety of housing types and affordability levels, while also reinforcing neighborhood stability and preservation. The inclusion of single-family design standards further supports these objectives by ensuring that new residential development is compatible in scale and character with existing neighborhoods, helping to protect and preserve established community patterns.

The inclusion of Regional Mixed Use, Neighborhood Mixed-Use, Community Mixed Use, and Flex Commercial Placetypes in the South Dallas Fair Park area supports the Economic Development theme by creating opportunities for local-serving retail, services, employment, and small business growth, particularly along key corridors and activity centers. These areas are intended to foster revitalization and promote equitable investment in historically underserved communities. In addition, the combination of open space, residential, and mixed-use environments reflects the Community + Urban Design theme by encouraging context-sensitive development and enhancing connectivity between uses. The integration of Regional Open Space, along with the application of thoughtful design standards, contributes to the creation of functional, safe, and vibrant public spaces.

The proposed update to PD 595 includes a zoning framework that maintains existing neighborhood conditions while refining the overall structure of the districts. This effort involves remapping boundaries for various subdistricts, reconfiguring and consolidating zoning districts, and applying mixed-use districts primarily along key corridors and activity centers to expand housing options. The update also introduces design standards for single-family and duplex subdistricts and revises land use definitions and the land use chart to improve clarity and consistency. Collectively, these changes support the ForwardDallas 2.0 Comprehensive Land Use Plan by aligning regulatory tools with the plan's themes, goals, and objectives, while ensuring that future development remains context-sensitive, predictable, and responsive to community needs.

South Dallas Fair Park Area Plan

The SDFP Area Plan is organized into four primary components: the Planning Process, Guiding Principles, Focus Areas, and Implementation Strategies. The planning process was shaped by extensive community engagement, including meaningful discussion and debate, which helped establish a clear set of guiding principles and refine priority focus areas across the large and diverse planning boundary.

To help lead the effort and ensure broad community representation, Councilmember Bazaldua established the SDFP Area Plan Taskforce. The 23-member Taskforce included community leaders from a range of multidisciplinary institutions, neighborhood association presidents, and representatives from organizations such as the Landmark Commission, Dallas Black Chamber of Commerce, Bonton Farms, and Fair Park First. Throughout the process, particular emphasis was placed on developing actionable implementation strategies aimed at fostering vibrant, culturally rooted development, especially along walkable retail corridors—while preserving and strengthening the area's historic and culturally significant neighborhoods.

Developed in coordination with the ForwardDallas 2.0 Comprehensive Land Use Plan update, the Taskforce employed a strategic approach to align local priorities with broader citywide land use policies and future placetypes. This effort resulted in the identification of six guiding principles—Land Use and Zoning, Housing, Economic Development, Infrastructure, Community Wellbeing, and History and Culture, which serve as the foundation for the plan's recommendations. Following this, five priority focus areas were identified after extensive deliberations: 2nd Avenue, Elsie Faye Heggins Street, Malcolm X Boulevard, the Martin Luther King, Jr. DART Station, and Queen City.

The plan functions as a practical and implementation-oriented framework to achieve the community's vision and guide future development. It includes detailed land use recommendations and targeted zoning changes, many of which were incorporated into the ForwardDallas update. Central recommendations emphasize two overarching objectives: promoting economic and housing growth along key corridors and ensuring thoughtful development that preserves neighborhood character.

Staff's recommendations are consistent with the SDFP Area Plan's stated goals, objectives, and prioritized actions, especially the ones marked with an asterisk (*) below:

SDFP Area Plan Goals

Special Use Permits

In addition to the established zoning subdistricts, the authorized hearing area is also shaped by numerous Special Use Permits (SUPs) that influence land use, development form, and operational standards throughout the district. These regulatory mechanisms have been adopted incrementally over time to address specific site conditions, neighborhood concerns, and development proposals. The following sections summarize the SUPs and deed restrictions currently identified within the authorized hearing area.

Deed Restrictions

Certain properties within the authorized hearing area are also governed by private deed restrictions that impose additional controls on land use and development. These restrictions were established over time by property owners, neighborhood organizations, and developers to regulate development intensity and form, restrict specific uses, and provide compatibility protections beyond the requirements of zoning regulations.

Existing Conditions

Across the district, land uses vary widely by subdistrict, but several overarching conditions define the present-day environment:

Lower Density Residential Subdistricts (R-3.8, R-5, R-7.5 D, CH, TH-1, and TH-3)

Much of the interior of PD 595 consists of traditional single-family neighborhoods such as Bertrand, Wheatly Place, Queen City, Ideal, Mill City, and Dolphin Heights. These neighborhoods are characterized by early 20th century housing stock and consistent residential patterns but are increasingly affected by new construction, with different massing and composition. Community feedback expressed concerns regarding “grossly incompatible” home designs, garage-dominant facades, flat or minimal roof pitch, reduced setbacks, and excessive pavement coverage. The community also mentioned the intensity and scale of the new duplex development along interior streets. Many of the areas of new development are surrounded or intersected by vacant lots, creating new types of infill patterns.

Multifamily and Commercial Corridors (MF-1, MF-2, MF-3, NC, NC(E) CC, RSMU, and RS-MU(E))

Commercial subdistricts line major corridors including Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard, Malcolm X Boulevard, Elsie Faye Heggins Street, Fitzhugh Avenue, and portions of Second Avenue. These nodes contain personal service uses, convenience retail, small offices, and legacy community-serving businesses. However, many locations also contain vacant commercial pad sites, deteriorated structures, and are characterized by limited walkability. Overly restrictive PD 595 regulations written in 2001 continue to limit viable uses, such as prohibiting certain food-to-go uses, restricting community gardens, limiting housing options, and preserving outdated commercial classifications that do not support current development. This has led to extended vacancy, underutilization, or nonconforming business operations.

Industrial Edges (RS-C, RS-I, and RS-I(E))

The district’s industrial edges run along the rail corridors, C.F. Hawn Freeway, Robert B. Cullum Boulevard, and Botham Jean Boulevard. These areas contain warehouse and distribution facilities, contractor yards, and automotive repair operations. While these uses play a role in the local economy, the proximity of heavy industrial and outdoor storage to residential neighborhoods has generated longstanding compatibility issues, including noise and air, truck traffic, visual impairments and site maintenance concerns.

Industrial zoning categories were originally intended to buffer the district from regional highways but no longer align with the growth and redevelopment patterns, as well as the housing needs expressed by the community.

Form-Based Districts and Special Purpose Areas (FWMU-3, FRTN, P(A), Subdistrict 1, Subdistrict 2, and Subdistrict 3)

Form-based Walkable Mixed-Use District introduces mixed-use node designed to accommodate small scale neighborhood-serving retail, and a pedestrian-oriented development pattern, signaling a shift toward more flexible, context-appropriate zoning. Form-based zoning also applies to Subdistricts 1, 2 and 3 to regulate targeted redevelopment sites, however, they represent only a small portion of the district.

Within PD 595, the P(A) subdistrict was originally created to provide overflow or shared parking for nearby commercial and institutional uses.

Overarching Issues and Community Concerns Across PD 595

Across all subdistricts, community engagement revealed several major concerns:

- Incompatible residential infill does not match historic neighborhood patterns.
- Rigid commercial zoning categories that do not allow modern mixed-use formats.
- Limited walkability, with fragmented sidewalks, poor crossings, and auto-oriented site design.
- Vacant and underutilized properties concentrated along major corridors.
- Industrial encroachment into neighborhoods with limited buffers.
- Lack of housing types of variety near transit, activity centers, and mixed-use corridors.
- Outdated definitions and SUP requirements limiting small businesses and locally owned food establishments.

These issues are compounded by the age of the existing PD, which was originally created to address conditions present in the early 2000s but has not been comprehensively updated since.

Proposed Changes:

Based on the SDFP Area Plan and taskforce guidance, five guiding goals inform the proposed changes:

1. Reconfigure and consolidate zoning subdistricts, by supporting pedestrian-scaled development.
2. Remap boundaries for various subdistricts, especially between residential interiors and commercial corridors.
3. Update land use definitions and land use chart to match current market conditions, community goals, and ForwardDallas 2.0 proposed land use.
4. Allow mixed-use development along key corridors and transit-served areas while expanding housing options in low to high-rise developments.
5. Introduced design standards for single-family and duplex subdistricts, especially for infill development, to preserve neighborhood character while allowing for reinvestment and a variety of housing choices.

1. Subdistrict Reconfiguration and Consolidation

The proposed update simplifies PD 595's existing and often outdated zoning subdistrict structure by consolidating them into a more coherent and modernized set of districts. This approach eliminates obsolete classifications, aligns similar areas, and introduces updated districts that better support walkable, neighborhood-serving development patterns. The resulting framework places greater emphasis on pedestrian-oriented design and small-scale development that is compatible with surrounding residential neighborhoods.

Importantly, this zoning update does not modify, remove, or otherwise alter existing Specific Use Permits (SUPs), deed restrictions, overlay districts, conservation districts, or historic district designations currently in effect within PD 595. All previously approved entitlements and regulatory controls will remain valid and unchanged unless addressed through separate, future actions. This ensures continuity of existing development rights and regulatory protections while modernizing the underlying zoning structure. The table below summarizes the transition from existing to proposed zoning districts:

Residential Subdistricts (R-7.5, R-5, R-3.8 and D → "South Dallas Single Family" and Duplex Subdistricts)

The residential subdistricts have been renamed to "South Dallas Single Family" (SD-7.5 and SD-5) and "South Dallas Duplex" (SD-D) to distinguish them from citywide base zoning categories and reinforce their role as place-specific districts tailored to the character of South Dallas neighborhoods. This naming change clarifies that these are custom PD regulations, not standard citywide districts, and emphasizes the intent to preserve neighborhood form while guiding compatible infill. As a result of only a single parcel being zoned R-3.8(A) and its lot dimensions being comparable to parcels in the adjacent SD-5 it has been rezoned to increase uniformity.

Townhouse, Clustered Housing and Multifamily Subdistricts (TH, CH, and MF → Retained)

The townhouse, clustered housing and multifamily categories have been retained in name because they continue to represent distinct housing types appropriate for the area. However, several of these subdistricts have been strategically rezoned into mixed-use districts where they fall along major corridors or near transit. This approach supports the SDFP Area Plan's goals of directing higher-intensity, mixed-use development to key locations while maintaining traditional Townhomes (TH), Clustered Housing (CH) and Multifamily (MF) districts.

Neighborhood and Community Commercial Subdistricts (NC, CC, and Enhanced Variations → NMU and CMU)

The former Neighborhood Commercial (NC) and Community Commercial (CC) subdistricts, including their enhanced variations, have been consolidated into Neighborhood Mixed Use (NMU) and Community Mixed Use (CMU) districts.

These new categories:

- Support a broader range of residential and commercial uses,
- Encourage pedestrian-scaled development patterns,
- Eliminate the redundancy of multiple commercial categories with similar functions.

The consolidation reflects the shift toward flexible mixed-use development and reduces regulatory complexity. In addition, uses allowed by right or by SUP in previously enhanced subdistrict variations now exist within their respective counterparts to avoid the creation of nonconformities.

Regional Service Districts (RS-MU, RS-C, RS-I and Enhanced Variations → RMU, SMU, and IMU)

The Regional Service series of subdistricts, many of which were oriented toward auto-related or low-intensity commercial activities, have been reorganized into Regional Mixed Use (RMU) district and two industrial-compatible zoning districts: Service Mixed Use (SMU) and Industrial Mixed Use (IMU). This consolidation updates service-commercial terminology and aligns uses with their function:

- RMU for larger corridor-based mixed-use areas,
- SMU for service-oriented uses with a commercial edge,
- IMU for locations where light industrial activity remains appropriate.

This structure creates a more predictable hierarchy of mixed-use and industrial-flex districts. In addition, uses allowed by right or by SUP in previously enhanced subdistrict variations now exist within their respective counterparts to avoid the creation of nonconformities.

Parking Subdistrict (P(A) → Removed)

The P(A) Parking Subdistrict has been eliminated because standalone parking districts are no longer necessary or aligned with contemporary land use strategy. Parking needs can be addressed within each mixed-use or commercial district, eliminating the need for a separate category and preventing unnecessary fragmentation of the zoning map. Surface accessory remote parking is permitted by SUP for institutional use only. Section 51A-4.324(b), which prohibits special parking in residential districts, does not apply.

Form-Based Districts (F-Form: FRTN and FWMU-3 Retained)

The F-Form subdistricts within PD 595 (including FRTN, FWMU-3, and related subdistricts) are retained because they already rely on the base form-based regulations of the Dallas Development Code. These districts are not conventional mixed-use or residential districts; instead, they function as built-in form-based zoning overlays that guide development through building form, frontage types, and block structure rather than traditional use separation. A form-based zoning district is a type of zoning that focuses primarily on the physical form and design of buildings and streets, rather than just land use (such as residential, commercial, or industrial). It emphasizes creating walkable, human-scale environments by carefully shaping building placement, street design, and the relationship between public and private spaces to support pedestrian activity and a cohesive urban character.

Special Purpose Subdistricts (Subdistrict 1, 2 and 3 → Retained)

Subdistricts 1, 2 and 3, which contain unique form-based regulations tied to key redevelopment sites, have been retained. These subdistricts remain appropriate due to their specialized design context and strong alignment with the SDFP Area Plan's place-based recommendations.

2. Remapped Boundaries

The remapping of subdistrict boundaries within PD 595 represents one of the most significant structural updates to the district since its original adoption in 2001. These adjustments respond to existing land use patterns, community-identified inconsistencies, incompatible zoning transitions, and long-standing regulatory barriers that have limited reinvestment along key commercial corridors. The intent of the boundary remapping is to simplify the district, improve predictability, and support a more logical progression of development intensity—from core residential neighborhoods to the area's major mixed-use and transit corridors. These boundary refinements were completed with the intent to prevent the creation of new nonconforming uses, consistent with the approach outlined in the Nonconformities section of this report.

Boundary adjustments expand or reconfigure mixed-use districts (NMU, CMU, and RMU) along key corridors to encourage walkable, transit-supportive development consistent with the SDFP Area Plan, ForwardDallas 2.0 placetypes, and state requirements under SB 840.

Texas Senate Bill 840 (SB 840) applies to large cities (population over 150,000) in counties with more than 300,000 residents, including the Dallas–Fort Worth area. The law significantly limits local control over multifamily (MF) housing by creating a parallel, state-mandated entitlement process that operates outside traditional zoning regulations. Under SB 840:

- Multifamily development is no longer limited to MF zoning districts.
- Cities must allow multifamily and mixed-use residential in commercial, office, retail, warehouse, and mixed-use districts.
- These uses must be approved by right, meaning administrative approval only.

For qualifying projects, cities cannot require Rezoning, Specific Use Permits (SUPs), variances, and public hearings or City Council approval. As a result, SB 840 removes the traditional zoning entitlement process for multifamily housing. Multifamily development is effectively decoupled from MF districts, and many non-residential zones now function as MF-eligible areas. For cities like Dallas, this substantially reduces local control over where apartment development can occur.

Key Areas of Change

1. Robert B. Cullum Boulevard and Fitzhugh Avenue—Fair Park Edge Zones

Boundary refinements along Robert B. Cullum Boulevard and Fitzhugh Avenue address mismatches between legacy industrial zoning and the evolving character of the Fair Park edges. Adjustments shift industrial zoning away from residential adjacency areas and apply mixed-use subdistricts along the major roadways to support redevelopment consistent with cultural, entertainment, and community-serving uses. These changes also reposition several duplex and multifamily parcels into mixed-use districts, allowing greater flexibility for reinvestment and providing an appropriate transition between Fair Park activity zones and surrounding neighborhoods.

2. Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard Corridor

Boundary adjustments along Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard respond to its role as one of the district's most active transit-supported corridors. The updated subdistrict lines consolidate fragmented commercial designations into a unified Community Mixed Use (CMU) district, enabling a more predictable framework for walkable mixed-use development. These refinements reflect market pressures for housing and small-scale retail along the corridor, support reinvestment around the DART station, and create a clearer transition to adjoining single-family neighborhoods through consistent height and form regulations.

3. Elsie Faye Heggins Street Corridor

The Elsie Faye Heggins corridor contains several long-standing properties intermixed with vacant land and low-intensity uses. Updated boundaries consolidate duplex subdistricts into a more cohesive NMU district, aligning zoning with the corridor's identified role as a neighborhood retail spine. These refinements improve reinvestment opportunities, reduce conflicts created by outdated commercial categories, and create consistent expectations for redevelopment along the corridor.

4. Industrial Transition Areas Near Botham Jean Blvd

The industrial edge along Botham Jean Boulevard has historically created land-use conflicts for nearby residential areas. Boundary refinements reduce the footprint of industrial oriented subdistricts where heavy service uses are no longer contextually appropriate, replacing them with Community Mixed Use zoning that maintains property owners' entitlements while improving compatibility. On the northwestern end, properties are rezoned into form-based walkable mixed-use districts to reflect the corridor's emerging development pattern and support more connected, pedestrian-oriented growth.

5. Walkable Form Based Expansion along Cleveland St

The rezoning of properties from MF-2(A) Multifamily Subdistrict to FWMU-3 Form Walkable Mixed-Use Subdistrict represents a shift toward a more urban, mixed-use development pattern that integrates residential density with compatible commercial and pedestrian-oriented uses. The FWMU-3 district is designed to promote walkability, active street frontages, and a balanced mix of housing and neighborhood-serving retail in areas targeted for reinvestment and growth. It provides increased flexibility in both land use and site design, supporting development patterns that align with the City's broader urban planning and mobility goals. Additionally, updated language extends the single-family and duplex design standards to residential development within the FWMU-3 subdistrict.

6. Clean-Up of Split Parcels and Irregular Subdistrict Polygons

Several parcels within the district contained multiple subdistrict designations or inconsistent boundary edges. These conditions created barriers to redevelopment and confusion for both property owners and permitting staff. Through the remapping process, split-zoned parcels have been consolidated into a single, appropriate zoning category.

Purpose and Effect of Remapping:

- Reinforce the character of historic single-family neighborhoods
- Strengthen commercial and mixed-use nodes along major corridors
- Support pedestrian-oriented development and transit connectivity
- Resolve inconsistencies in the original PD 595 map
- Improve predictability for residents, stakeholders, and developers
- Align with ForwardDallas 2.0 placetype designations
- Implement key priorities of the SDFP Area Plan

These refined boundaries establish a more intuitive and equitable zoning framework for South Dallas, ensuring that future development occurs in a manner consistent with community goals, historic neighborhood patterns, and modern planning principles.

3. Updated Definitions and Land Use Comparison

The proposed changes modernize PD 595's land use terminology and permitted use table to better reflect current market conditions, evolving community needs, and the City's broader land use policy. Outdated uses and regulatory constraints have been removed, while new and revised use categories have been introduced to clarify permitted activities and support local businesses, neighborhood-serving services, and more flexible development formats.

These updates also respond to long-standing community concerns regarding outdated zoning definitions, unnecessary use restrictions, and barriers to adaptive reuse. In addition, and in conformance with Texas Senate Bill 840 (SB 840), residential uses have been incorporated into applicable commercial and mixed-use categories where previously prohibited.

Several updates reflect current practice and reduce regulatory friction:

- Catering Services – Updated to allow to-go and pick-up service operations without requiring a Specific Use Permit (SUP), reflecting modern food service models.
- Market Gardens / Community Garden (Crop Production) – Consolidated under Crop Production in alignment with Texas Agriculture Code definitions of agricultural activity, which recognize the cultivation of soil and growing of plants as a protected agricultural use.
- Massage Establishments – Now permitted as an accessory use to other personal service uses, reducing regulatory burden for complementary wellness services.
- Tobacco Shop – Updated to include electronic smoking devices within the definition to reflect modern retail formats.
- Live-Work Unit – Revised to remove caps on the number of dwellings, allowing greater flexibility in mixed-use and adaptive reuse developments.

Nonconformities

A key objective of the rezoning and land use updates is to minimize the creation of new nonconforming uses, structures, or lots. Where possible, existing legal uses have been maintained within appropriate districts or transitioned into updated land use categories that preserve their ability to continue operating under the new framework.

The intent of these amendments is to modernize PD 595 without unnecessarily disrupting existing development or viable uses. Care has been taken to align new zoning districts and updated definitions with existing conditions so that properties are not rendered nonconforming solely because of this update, except where necessary to address clear compatibility, safety, or policy conflicts. This approach supports a more predictable regulatory environment, reduces long-term redevelopment constraints, and ensures that the updated framework can be implemented without creating widespread unintended legal nonconformities.

Summary of Intent

Collectively, these updates reduce regulatory friction, modernize outdated zoning definitions, and better align permitted uses with contemporary development and business practices. They also support a more flexible mixed-use framework that incorporates residential development in compliance with SB 840 while maintaining appropriate controls for land use compatibility and intensity.

The full updated land use and permitted use table is provided in the following section and reflects these revised definitions and regulatory changes.

4. Mixed Use Development

The creation of new mixed-use districts within PD 595 responds directly to changes in state law, community priorities, and ongoing concerns related to development compatibility.

As of September of 2025, under Texas Senate Bill 840 (SB 840), of the Texas State Legislature No 89, all zoning designations that allow office, retail, warehouse, commercial, and mixed-uses, must allow multifamily uses. State law also contains new additional development standards for multifamily developments. This shifts the role of zoning from controlling whether residential development can occur to shaping how it occurs. As a result, development standards—particularly those related to building height above 45 feet, form, and site design—become the primary tools for ensuring compatibility.

The introduction of Neighborhood Mixed Use (NMU), Community Mixed Use (CMU), and Regional Mixed Use (RMU) districts establishes a cohesive framework to manage this change. These districts are designed to accommodate a mix of uses while providing clearer expectations for scale and urban form. They also implement the SDFP Area Plan's direction to support a range of development intensities—from low-rise to high-rise—by organizing building scale in a more intentional and predictable way.

The transition to these districts modernizes existing zoning patterns by introducing:

- Height tiers aligned with corridor intensity
- Clear development standards that address residential entitlements under SB 840

Height

A key concern identified through community engagement and the SDFP Area Plan is the impact of building height on nearby single-family neighborhoods. This rezoning directly addresses those concerns by pairing increased development potential with clear height controls and transition requirements.

In the Community Mixed Use (CMU) district, buildings are generally limited to a base height of 45 feet. Additional height—up to 100 feet where permitted—is allowed only when specific design standards are met to ensure that taller buildings contribute positively to the public realm. These include requirements for strong street frontage along primary corridors, minimum ground-floor transparency to create active and visible street edges, and clearly defined building entrances oriented toward public streets. Collectively, these standards reinforce pedestrian activity and ensure that increased height results in higher-quality, more engaging development.

To further protect adjacent residential areas, a residential proximity slope applies to portions of buildings exceeding 45 feet in height. Under this requirement, no portion of a structure above 45 feet may extend beyond a 1:3 slope measured from the property line of nearby single-family or duplex residential property. This creates a stepped-building form that reduces visual impact and scale differences, providing a more gradual transition between mixed-use corridors and lower-density neighborhoods. Limited projections, such as certain architectural elements and chimneys, may extend beyond the slope within defined limits, but the overall intent is to maintain compatibility and minimize adverse impacts.

Together, these provisions ensure that while SB 840 expands development potential, building height and massing remain carefully controlled. The mixed-use districts balance flexibility with predictability, allowing growth while reinforcing neighborhood stability and addressing long-standing compatibility concerns.

Development Standards

The development standards in the following section implement this framework. They establish district-wide requirements for building form, height, and site design across all mixed-use districts, ensuring that new development is consistent, context-sensitive, and aligned with both SB 840 and the goals of the SDFP Area Plan.

5. Design Standards for Single Family and Duplex Subdistricts (SD-7.5, SD-5, and SD-D)

Infill development within the single-family and duplex subdistricts has increasingly resulted in construction that is incompatible with the established scale and character of South Dallas neighborhoods. Both community feedback and the SDFP Area Plan engagement identified the need to preserve neighborhood integrity and ensure that future development complements, rather than detracts from, historic residential patterns. In response, new design standards have been introduced to guide development in a manner that is consistent with the existing built environment. These standards align with the SDFP Area Plan guiding principles by preserving neighborhood character, promoting compatible infill development, and supporting a broader range of housing options while maintaining the integrity of established residential areas.

- Reinforce traditional porch-oriented block patterns.
- Reduce garage-dominated streetscapes.
- Introduce consistent roof form to match existing neighborhood character.
- Limit excessive front-yard paving and support preservation of green space.
- Support safety through visibility and egress, and contribute to an active, visually connected streetscape with window transparency standards
- Increase homeownership opportunities by reducing duplex lot restrictions.
- Create multigenerational living, provide opportunities for supplemental income, and align with the broader housing goals by allowing accessory dwelling units (ADUs) as an accessory use without altering established form and scale of residential areas.

Market Value Analysis:

Market Value Analysis (MVA) is a data-driven tool used to understand local housing market strength and inform targeted investment strategies. The tool is used to aid residents and policymakers in understanding their local residential real estate markets. It is an objective, data-driven tool built on local administrative data and validated with local experts. The analysis was prepared for the City of Dallas by The Reinvestment Fund. Public officials and private actors can use the MVA to more precisely target intervention strategies in weaker housing markets and support sustainable growth in stronger markets. The MVA identifies nine market types (A through I) along a spectrum of residential market strength or weakness. As illustrated in the attached MVA map, colors range from purple, representing the strongest markets (A through C), to orange, representing the weakest markets (G through I). The area of request is characterized by a range of residential market conditions as identified through the Market Value Analysis (MVA). As illustrated in the attached MVA map, the southeastern portion near Bonton and the central western section between Cesar Chavez Boulevard and S. Malcolm X Boulevard include G market types, indicating weaker market conditions. F market types are present in the northern portion near the Martin Luther King Jr. DART Station. I market types are found along the western edge in the Cedars, the northeastern edge, and within the Wheatley Place neighborhood, reflecting the most challenged market conditions within the authorized hearing area. The remaining portions of the area are primarily characterized as H market types, representing moderately weak market conditions.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION:

PD 595 contains a various mix of historic neighborhoods, commercial corridors, industrial areas, transit-served corridors, and cultural assets that have evolved through more than two decades of incremental zoning amendments. While the district continues to serve as an important economic and cultural center within South Dallas/Fair Park, existing zoning regulations no longer fully reflect current development patterns, community priorities, or the long-term vision established through the SDFP Area Plan. Existing conditions within the district include outdated land use regulations, fragmented subdistrict boundaries, incompatible infill development, underutilized commercial properties, and limited walkability along key corridors.

The proposed amendment to PD 595 implements the recommendations of the SDFP Area Plan and aligns the district with the goals and placetype framework of the ForwardDallas 2.0 Comprehensive Land Use Plan. The amendment modernizes the zoning framework by consolidating outdated subdistricts, updating land use regulations and definitions, refining subdistrict boundaries, and introducing context-sensitive development standards intended to support reinvestment while preserving neighborhood character.

The proposed mixed-use districts establish a more predictable hierarchy of development intensity along key corridors and transit-served areas while providing development standards related to height, frontage, setbacks, and residential proximity to improve compatibility with adjacent neighborhoods. The amendment also introduces single-family and duplex design standards to address longstanding community concerns regarding incompatible infill development and modernizes outdated land use regulations that have historically limited neighborhood-serving businesses, adaptive reuse opportunities, and mixed-use development.

Staff believes the proposed amendment establishes a more coherent and predictable zoning framework that balances neighborhood preservation with opportunities for equitable reinvestment, housing choice, economic development, and transit-oriented growth.

Therefore, staff recommends approval of the amendment to PD 595, subject to Exhibit A (Land Use Chart), Exhibit B (Mixed Use Development Standards Chart), Exhibit C (Subdistrict 1 Subareas Map), and Exhibit D (Single Family and Duplex Development Standards Summary Chart), attached hereto.
